Our Year in Faith - As summer approaches it might serve the Church well if we celebrate the Year of Faith by reading and meditating on one or more of the documents of the Second Vatican Council. In view of many misunderstandings and misstatements of well-known individuals it might be beneficial to examine the Decree on the Apostolate of Lay People.

In its second chapter the Council Fathers made clear that the "mission of the Church... is not only to bring men the message and grace of Christ but also to permeate and improve the whole range of the temporal... The layperson, at one and at the same time a believer and a citizen of the world, has only a single conscience, a Christian conscience; it is by this that he must be guided continually in both domains"(5). What is established by these words are three interrelated truths. The baptized person must, each in his or her own way, be involved in the apostolate of the Church, as a catechist, liturgical minister, and dispenser of charity; or provide some sort of service; in the family, as a guiding parent or guardian, religious model, and loving spouse. Second, one cannot decide to surrender one's values because of possible negative responses from others or because of one's position in business or government. We do not have the right to forget that we are called to witness to the truth. If we fail to honor our commitment to the Church's faith and morals, we are placing ourselves outside the People of God. Third, the fact that we are part of the Catholic Church does not mean simply that we must follow her teachings; but it also means that when we stand up and sing the Lord's praises, beseech God's help, and witness to the verities of life, we are not alone: our brothers and sisters are one with us under the headship of Christ. Let us be united with Him in prayer and action.

Our Journey in Faith -

Jesus' visit to the house of Simon was the setting of this week's Gospel. From the outset, it was a peculiar visit for Simon didn't offer Jesus a traditional welcome - water to wash his feet after journeying to his home. This was probably noticed by the guests and prompted a woman to kneel before Him and with tears begin to wash His feet and to dry them with her hair. Jesus immediately knew that comments would be made, so He addressed the situation by using a parable of people in debt and how repentant they are when they seek forgiveness. The woman was a street woman and had a bad reputation. Nevertheless, she showed Jesus such great respect whereas Simon showed scorn. Even though her sin was greater, she sought forgiveness in such an extraordinary way that Jesus recognized her true sorrow and her resolve to amend her life.

If only we approached Jesus with such repentance, so too would He forgive us.

We wish all the fathers of our parish a happy and healthy Father's Day. We are grateful to them for all the sacrifices they have made for us. Please remember in prayer all the fathers, grandfathers, and godfathers who are deceased and those who mourn them.

Fr. James Healy

***** In the past two years six communion hosts have been found on the sidewalk by the hedges outside the church.

Whoever is doing this, please DO NOT TAKE HOLY COMMUNION because this is a serious sin and an insult to the presence of Jesus in the host. ****
