Our Year in Faith - On a feast such as this we rejoice in the presence of the Holy Spirit in the Church and in each one of us who have been baptized in the name of the Father, and the Son, and the Holy Spirit. We are to recognize His activity each and every day as we call upon His gifts. At a time like ours when we face moral dilemmas, political crisis, and universal discord they are most necessary to guide us towards the peace that only Christ can give. Today above all days is not one to discuss scriptural understandings or doctrinal statements, we are to simply pray for the inspiration of the Spirit.

Come Holy Spirit, You who entered the upper room in the form of tongues of fire, give us the courage to break the bonds of fear that keep us from witnessing to the Risen Lord as did the first disciples. Give us the strength to overcome doubts as to the truths we are taught by Your Church. Give us the knowledge to understand the importance of Your Word in our daily life. Give us the fortitude to speak with love and compassion to our sons and daughters who have endangered their salvation by accepting compromises with the society in which relativism is the only doctrine. Give us the fortitude to speak to our neighbors who once walked with us to Church but no longer have time for worship or prayer in that they are seeking always after the brass, not gold, rings of materialism. Give us the fortitude to look within ourselves and realize the faults we can see in others also reside in us.

Come Holy Spirit, You who we received with great anticipation on our Confirmation Day restore in us the gift of the fear of the Lord. Restore in us the awe we once experienced when we recognized that we were entering the Holy of Holies when we entered the church and genuflected before the Real Presence that too many today dismiss. Be with us as we await the coming of the Lord at a time when we least expect but for which with Your wisdom we will be prepared. Set us afire with faith, hope and love.

Our Journey in Faith -

Pentecost: Living today with all that is going on is quite a challenge to the faith we have in Jesus, the Christ. Some would say that it is over the top, that our values and behavior seems to know no bounds- no real concern for others, for society as a whole nor for our own integrity. How does a person touched by God cope in a society where depravity is highlighted in the media and where even our civil leaders behave with such indiscretion as to embarrass us all. Did Jesus not come to change the behavior and values of humanity? Certainly this is the message of the Scriptures and the longstanding teachings of our church. Perhaps we have lost a sense of who we are - that we were created in God's image and likeness ordained to uphold God's laws and His will. Moreover recognizing our weaknesses God sent His Son to redeem us - to lift us out of the misery of selfishness and sin, to live in imitation of His goodness, holiness and peace. With both the natural and supernatural aide God has given us, one would hope for better results. But living in a world that edifies greed, lust, power and selfism, we know the struggle of Jesus in The Garden of Gethsemane wherein Jesus prayed with such intensity but victoriously ceded to do God's will. It also brings to mind the fears that His disciples faced in the upper room when faced with the prospects of an angry mob. Knowing what was ahead of them and of us, Jesus promised that The Father would send The Holy Spirit as our advocate to show us a way of living in this turbulent world. But we must open ourselves to receive Him. We must be malleable in the face of God's assistance and strong in our resolve to listen to Him, to be reborn in Him. Remember, although we are in the world, we are not of the world. In Christ we must find our strength.
