Our Journey in Faith

Advent is one of the most beautiful seasons of the Church calendar. It is a time of wonder and expectation, a time of getting prepared to celebrate a birth and, even more so, a return of our Lord and Savior. Although it is a penitential season it is difficult to contain the freneticism and busyness of all the preparations that we make. Homes are festooned with lights and trees and displays of the Christmas season. Cards are sent to relatives and friends far and near and yes there are parties that commemorate the joy and happiness that people feel. All these things are well and good but they sometimes dwarf and overshadow the reason which gave this season such meaning. There is a deep seated yearning within all of us for peace and joy yet by ourselves we cannot attain it. We reach out and beyond ourselves to God, the source of all goodness. Advent is the period in which we hear ourselves saying aloud, "Come Lord Jesus, come!" an ancient prayer that our ancestors uttered for the return of Jesus. He was born some two thousand years ago and died at the tender age of 33. Yet He promised that He would never leave us and that He would return again to lead us to the bliss and joy of Heaven.

What we experience during this season are the pangs and jumbled emotions akin to that of a mother pregnant with child. There is the waiting and the uncomfortableness that precedes birth and fulfillment, that all ready but not quite sensation that precedes birth. This great expectation is mirrored throughout Advent and it is that which makes this season so important in our understanding of the sacredness of expectant life. The care and the solicitude that an expectant mother shows to the baby she is carrying should evidence itself in our great waiting for the coming of Jesus. We must be prepared so that we recognize Him when He comes!
