Our Journey in Faith

Concern for the health and well-being of people was and is an important emphasis in the life and teaching of Jesus. So compelled was He that throughout His ministry Jesus reached out to restore life and sanity to people whose lives were threatened. Even to those who were considered untouchable Jesus extended His hand in healing and mercy. Upon being questioned as to who would inherit a place in the Kingdom, Jesus issued the acid test and pronounced only those who fed the hungry, clothed the naked, gave drink to the thirsty, visited the sick and imprisoned, merited The Kingdom of God. Identifying Himself with them, He said that whoever does the above to the least of their brethren, does it unto Him.

Throughout the history of the church the mandate to care for the sick and poor was institutionalized with the building of hospitals and providing a vast system of educational and social services. This too was an important work of the church in the U.S.A. In recent years it became necessary to align services according to the needs of the state. Licenses are needed to practice medicine and to operate social service offices and institutions. As these sciences advanced special grants were given to help defray the costs and to purchase modern equipment necessary to diagnose and treat illnesses. In accepting aid and payment little did religious institutions realize that their underlying philosophy and religious beliefs would be threatened. We have arrived now at such a moment. Be aware and attentive to what is taking place.
