Stewardship-

If you plan on being away during the summer, please be sure to continue to send in your weekly contributions. They may be mailed or you may utilize the ParishPay program. Please visit www.paritypay.com to enroll. Your support in this effort is greatly appreciated.

Concern for the poor has always been a human endeavor, but for people of belief it usually is the object of divine mercy and an obligation imposed on those who place their faith in a compassionate, loving God. Listed as first of the beatitudes, "blessed are the poor in spirit," we are urged from the very outset, to be mindful of those whose worth and value is not measured in terms of what they have but in terms of who they are as children of God. Mother Theresa of Calcutta never tired of pointing out poverty even among the economic elite. You may be rich but spiritually unaware, uncaring, and dead to the existence and well being of one's brother and sister. Poverty or emptiness depends on who or what fills our life. If we are filled with human pride for self we measure everything in terms of what is in it for oneself; if God is number one then everything is about pleasing God and doing His will; if others are important then the common good of people is a value toward which we work to achieve.

Our faith doesn't paint an equalitarian picture, that everyone is and has the same. There will always be those who have more and those who have less. But what it does do is to encourage everybody to have access to the basic opportunities that human existence supplies, that people work for the common good, and that we try our very best to help the poor and disadvantaged. This is not a political platform, but the social dimension of the gospel itself.

Fr. James F. Healy
